Executive Summary

The Independent Elections Commission (IEC-2026) respectfully submits this comprehensive election administrative report to the National Leadership of the Liberian Students Union in China (LSUIC). This report summarizes the activities undertaken by the Commission from its establishment (April 24 to July 26, 2026) through the completion of candidate nominations, voter registration, financial administration, and election preparations prior to the commencement of voting.

Throughout the electoral period, the Commission remained committed to conducting a transparent, credible, impartial, and inclusive electoral process in accordance with the LSUIC Constitution and the IEC Election Manual. Particular emphasis was placed on expanding participation through the successful introduction of an online voter registration and voting platform, enabling qualified members who could not physically attend the conference to exercise their democratic rights.

This report presents statistics on candidate nominations, voter registration, financial transactions, operational expenditures, and the Commission's preparedness to conduct the 2026 General Elections.

1. Introduction

The Team IEC-2026 was established to organize, supervise, and administer the 2026 LSUIC General Elections in accordance with the Constitution of the Liberian Students Union in China. Following its appointment, the Commission immediately commenced preparations, including:

- ✓ Development of the Election Manual;
- ✓ Development of the online registration and voting system;
- ✓ Candidate nomination process;
- ✓ Voter education and awareness;
- ✓ Candidate verification;
- ✓ Publication of the Final Voters Roll;
- ✓ Ballot preparation;
- ✓ Overall logistical planning for Election Day.

The ICE completed all election activities that the planed in the election manuel of 2026 and successfully conducted a free, fair, and transparent election process.

2. Objectives of the Report

The objectives of this report are to:

- Provide an administrative update on the activities of IEC-2026.
- Present candidate registration statistics.
- Present voter registration statistics.
- Provide financial accountability.
- Document the Commission's operational achievements.
- Demonstrate election preparedness.
- Serve as an official record for the National Leadership.

3. Activities and Key Initiatives Undertaken by the IEC

In fulfillment of its mandate to conduct a credible, transparent, inclusive, and well-organized electoral process, the IEC-2026 implemented a series of activities leading up to the 2026 LSUIC General Elections. These activities were guided by the official election timeline published by the Commission, which outlined the major stages of the electoral process, including registration, vetting, publication of candidates, voter education, debates, publication of the voter roll, Election Day, announcement of results, certification, and induction.

3.1 Digitalization of Candidate and Voter Registration

One of the major initiatives undertaken by the IEC was the transition from a predominantly manual registration process to a digital candidate and voter registration system. The Commission contracted an independent developer to design and build an online electoral registration platform specifically for the 2026 election process. The platform enabled eligible members to submit their voter registration information electronically and provided the IEC with a more organized mechanism for reviewing, verifying, and managing voter information. This initiative represented an important step toward modernizing LSUIC's electoral administration and laid a foundation for future commissions to develop digital electoral systems further. As reflected in the IEC Election manual, candidate and voter registration constituted the first major phase of the electoral process. The IEC also publicly provided access to the registration platform, ensuring that members were informed about how to participate.

3.2 Voter Registration and Education

Recognizing that introducing a new digital registration process required adequate public education, the IEC conducted an online voter registration and civic education awareness session on July 17, 2026. The activity was designed to educate voters and candidates about the electoral process, voter registration requirements, participation procedures, and voters' responsibilities during the elections. The session also provided an opportunity for members to seek clarification regarding registration and other aspects of the electoral process. This engagement formed part of the Commission's broader commitment to ensuring that eligible members were adequately informed before Election Day.

3.3 Candidates' Debates and Voter Engagement

The IEC also organized candidates' debates to provide voters with opportunities to hear directly from the candidates and better understand their proposed programs and leadership priorities. An online candidates' debate was conducted on July 20, 2026, allowing LSUIC members across different cities and provinces in China to participate remotely. During the debate, candidates were provided the opportunity to present and explain their manifestos, respond to questions, and communicate their plans for the Union. In addition, the IEC conducted in-person manifesto presentations on July 25, 2026, during the 20th Anniversary Conference of the Liberian Student Union in China. This session provided conference delegates and eligible voters present at the conference with another opportunity to engage with the candidates and evaluate their manifestos before voting. These activities were particularly important because they extended the electoral process beyond the casting of ballots. Through voter education, digital registration, online engagement, and candidate debates, the IEC sought to create an electoral environment in which members could make informed choices.

3.4 Implementation of the Published Election Timeline

The IEC's activities were organized around the official IEC-2026 Election Timeline, which served as a public roadmap for the electoral process. The timeline identified eleven major stages, beginning with candidate and voter registration and proceeding through vetting, publication of the candidates' list, campaigning, complaint hearings, publication of the preliminary and final voter rolls, candidates' debates, Election Day, results announcement, and ultimately certification and induction. The publication of this timeline provided candidates, voters, and the wider LSUIC community with a clear understanding of the Commission's planned activities and important electoral dates. Generally, these activities demonstrate the IEC's efforts to administer the 2026 elections according to its guiding principles of fairness, transparency, and inclusiveness, as emphasized in the Commission's official election flyer.

4. Candidate Registration Summary

Following the nomination period, the Commission successfully verified and approved seven (7) candidates for the 2026 General Elections.

Position	Registered Candidates
National President	1
Vice President	1
Secretary General	1
Deputy Secretary General	1
Financial Secretary	1
National Treasurer	1
Chaplain General	1
Total Registered Candidates	7

The Commission did not receive any nominations for Provincial or City Election positions. However, the IEC received invitation letters from three provincial election committees to serve as election observers during their respective electoral processes, namely in Zhejiang, Wuhan, and Beijing.

5. Voter Registration Summary

The Commission introduced, for the first time, an electronic voter registration system aimed at expanding electoral participation among LSUIC members regardless of geographical location. A total of 90 users created accounts on the IEC platform. After verification, 85 members satisfied all constitutional requirements and were confirmed as eligible registered voters.

will be eligible to participate in the election. Voters whose status remains Not Confirmed by the registration deadline will NOT be permitted to vote, either in person or through the online voting platform. The IEC appreciates your cooperation and encourages all affected voters to complete their registration promptly. IPV = In-person voter; OLV = Oline voter

6. Election Preparations

The Commission completed the following activities prior to Election Day:

- Constitution of the Independent Elections Commission.
- Development of the Election Manual.
- Development of the IEC Online Registration Platform.
- Development of the Online Voting Platform.
- Candidate verification.
- Voter registration.
- Publication of the Final Voters Roll.
- Candidate information publication.
- Voter education campaigns.
- Public awareness activities.
- Printing of ballot papers.
- Preparation of candidate certificates.
- Election logistics planning.

These activities have positioned the Commission to conduct a free, fair, transparent, and credible election.

7. Financial Report

7.1 Revenue

The Commission received candidate registration fees totaling:

Revenue Source	Amount (RMB)
Candidate Registration Fees	2,365.00

Total Revenue: RMB 2,365.00

Independent Elections Commission (IEC-2026)

IEC-2026 Report

7.2 Expenditure

Description	Amount (RMB)
Development of Candidate & Voter Registration Platform	500.00
Preparation of Candidates' Certificates	245.00
Printing of Ballot Papers and Transportation	203.69
Total Expenditure	948.69

7.3 Financial Summary

Item	Amount (RMB)
Total Revenue	2,365.00
Total Expenditure	948.69
Balance	1,416.31

Following the successful conclusion of the 2026 electoral process, the IEC conducted a final reconciliation of its financial activities, taking into account all revenues received and expenditures incurred in the administration of the elections. After all authorized election-related expenses had been settled, the remaining financial balance (1417 RMB) was formally turned over to the outgoing LSUIC national leadership (2025-2026). This turnover formed part of the Commission's commitment to financial accountability, transparency, and responsible stewardship of resources entrusted to the IEC. The Commission ensured that funds remaining after the completion of its mandate were properly returned rather than retained by the IEC or its members. The financial turnover effectively concluded the IEC's fiscal responsibilities for the 2026 election cycle and provided a clear record of the disposition of funds following the completion of the electoral process.

8. Election Results

Election Date: July 25, 2026

The election results will be completed and inserted following the official declaration of results by the Independent Elections Commission.

Position	Winner	Votes Received
National President	Moses Kingsford Flomo	58
Vice President	John Tarway Twalla	59
Secretary General	Federick Francis Johnson II	56
Deputy Secretary General	Abraham Dixon	57
Financial Secretary	Alfreda R. Togbah	56

National Treasurer	Antoinette T Dickson	57
Chaplain General	Laimah Acee Dowie	56

The Commission certifies and officially announces the results immediately after vote counting, verification, and validation have been completed.

9. Challenges Encountered

During the implementation of the electoral process, the Commission encountered several operational challenges, including:

- Internet connectivity challenges experienced by some members.
- VPN accessibility issues affecting some users.
- Late voter registrations.
- Verification delays due to incomplete member information.
- Limited time available for implementing a new digital election system.
- Despite these challenges, the Commission successfully completed all required pre-election activities.

10. Conclusion

The Independent Elections Commission (IEC-2026) is pleased to report that all major pre-election activities have been successfully completed.

The introduction of the online voter registration and voting platform marks a significant milestone in the democratic development of the Liberian Students Union in China by expanding electoral participation and improving accessibility for members residing across different provinces.

The Commission remains committed to conducting an election that reflects the highest standards of transparency, accountability, fairness, and integrity. We extend our sincere appreciation to the National Leadership, all candidates, registered voters, and members of the Union whose cooperation has contributed significantly to the success of the electoral process.

A comprehensive Final Election Report, including certified election results, financial reconciliation, observations, and recommendations, has been submitted following the completion of the 2026 General Elections.

11. Recommendations

The Commission respectfully recommends that:

1. The online voting platform be institutionalized for future LSUIC elections.
2. Voter registration commence earlier to improve participation.
3. The Commission receive an annual operational budget to improve election planning.
4. Future IECs maintain a centralized digital voter database.
5. Continuous voter education be carried out throughout the electoral cycle.
6. The Election Manual be periodically reviewed to reflect technological developments and evolving electoral needs.
